

Robert O. Warner Jr., age 94, of Arapahoe, Nebraska passed away on Monday, October 24, 2016 at the C.A. Mues Good Samaritan Center in Arapahoe, Nebraska. He was born on May 10, 1922 in Holbrook, Nebraska to Robert O. and Rose E. (Hilker) Warner, the first of six children.

He grew up in the Holbrook area and graduated from Holbrook High School with the class of 1939. He married Marjorie Litz on June 10, 1945 at McCook, Nebraska. They moved to a farm northwest of Beaver City, Nebraska. In 1961, they moved to the farm south west of Arapahoe and in 1977 would purchase and move to their current home on the southeast side of Arapahoe, Nebraska. Because of his health in 2013, he moved to the C.A. Mues Good Samaritan Center. A true "farmer" in every sense of the word, Robert witnessed the 1935 Republican River Flood, he endured the Great Depression, and raised a family of 4 sons; growing crops, raising hogs, and cattle for 80 plus years.

Robert was a life-long supporter of the 4-H program in Furnas County, attending over 75 Furnas County Fairs and watching his children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren display their many projects. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church of Arapahoe, Nebraska. He and Marjorie had many enjoyable nights Square Dancing with local dance groups.

He is preceded in death by his parents, 3 brothers James, Joe, Jerome and 2 sisters Norma Layman and Joan Reiland, Daughter-In-Law Tammi Warner, Infant grandson Justin Warner, Granddaughter-in-law Kasey Jo Warner

He is survived by his wife Marjorie Warner of Arapahoe, Nebraska
